

Instrumental Music Study Helps Make Better Students

Many important educators have climbed on the band wagon for instrumental music in basic education, a major reason why the number of school-age musicians has increased more than 300 per cent during the past 15 years.

According to the American Music Conference, school-age musicians are growing in number at a rate of five times the rate of the total school population . . . and now total 10,500,000.

Dr. Maxwell Rafferty, superintendent of public schools in California, is one of music making's strongest supporters. He says, "The Greeks and Romans believed music instruction was a basic academic subject, and so do I. Music itself even helps with simple arithmetic."

INSTRUMENTAL music is generally recognized as a contributor of more than just pleasant sounds, particularly in areas of thought-discipline, mathematical precision, perseverance and cooperation.

Rev. Joseph Mytych, director of music instruction for the Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago, has said, "We have found in schools having a solid applied music program that achievement and I.Q. ratings are very decidedly elevated."

The phrase "full development of the student" is included or implied in most educators' endorsement of music's place in the curriculum. Dr. Ralph W. Lenz, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles public schools, says, "The discipline children learn is transferable to other subjects, often making them all-around better students."

INTERESTINGLY, Music studies in Space Age curricula don't end at the door to the music room. Sometimes they go right into the science lab, further emphasizing a link between science and music.

As part of a study of sound waves, seventh graders in White Plains, New York designed their own music instruments. Guided by the science instructor, they learned the basic principles of sound and acoustics of modern orchestral instruments, using, among other things, paper-tube trombones, glass and straw clarinets, and oilcan banjos.

Narbonne Schedules Registration

Narbonne High School has released its pre-enrollment schedule for all students who plan to attend in the fall.

Students in the A-11, B-12 and A-12 will pre-enroll from 8:30 a.m. to noon on Sept. 10. On Sept. 11 from 8:30 a.m. to noon, students in the B-11 and A-10 will pre-enroll.

From 8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on Sept. 12, B-10 students are to report. On Sept. 12 from 11 a.m. to noon, registration will be held for students from any grade level that have not previously pre-enrolled.

REGISTRATION will be handled in the auditorium where department chairmen and counselors will assist students in securing classes for the fall semester.

All students must be appropriately dressed for school in order to enroll. Pupils desiring sixth period athletics, school service or leadership are asked to bring a copy of their Spring, 1963 final report card with them for eligibility verification.

NEW STUDENTS to the district, including all B-10 enrollees, should register on the day and hour of their specific class registration time, reporting to room C-5 before going to the auditorium.

School officials remind students state regulations prohibit any pupil being enrolled whose polio immunization record has not been filed with the school.

STUDENTS who were in attendance at Narbonne in the Spring and had not completed their polio inoculations must bring verification of inoculations with them at the time of pre-enrollment.

Officials also remind pupils it will be advantageous to purchase the $4 activity card at time of registration. The card entitles the holder to admission for all sports events plus a "live" assembly program.

Supervisors, Civic Leaders Approve Bridge

Civic and business leaders in the Carson area joined with Supervisors Kenneth Hahn and Burton W. Chace yesterday in dedicating the new bridge across Dominguez Channel at Figueroa Street.

The structure, built at a cost of $500,000, has been open to traffic for about a week. In addition to the bridge, new curbs and gutters and drainage facilities were installed in the area.
